

The Lucille & Norton Wolf London Health Research Day Trainee Publication Awards

Thanks to the personal generosity of Lucille and Norton Wolf, we are pleased to issue a call for The Lucille & Norton Wolf London Health Research Day Trainee Publication Awards. These awards will be announced at London Health Research Day on Tuesday, April 30, 2019 at the London Convention Centre. Up to four awards will be given to recognize the top-scoring publication submissions. Cash awards will be given in the amount of $1,000 for each of the prizes awarded (up to four).

These awards have been created to recognize the outstanding research discoveries of trainees, postdoctoral scholars, medical residents and clinical fellows of the Schulich School of Medicine & Dentistry working in labs across Schulich Medicine & Dentistry, including Robarts Research Institute, or in labs at Lawson Health Research Institute. Please note that undergraduate students are not eligible to participate.*

The awards will be provided to the top-scoring (up to four) trainee peer-reviewed publications that have appeared in press from January 1, 2018 to December 31, 2018. All trainees and students as described above are eligible to apply. To do so:

- The trainee must be participating in London Health Research Day 2019 through a poster or feature platform presentation.
- The trainee must be first author on the publication and have contributed significantly to both the research and the writing of the manuscript.
- To apply: a full copy of the published manuscript must be submitted along with a maximum 300 word description prepared by the first author trainee describing why the publication is of significant merit; their contributions to the study and the publication and generally why the publication is worthy of consideration for one of these awards.
- Submitted publications and the descriptions of their impact will be adjudicated by the London Health Research Day Academic Committee.

All submissions must be sent to sheila.fleming@lawsonresearch.com and received no later than 4:00 p.m. on Wednesday, March 27, 2019.